Chapter 1 by Jhastity Perez

This story is gonna be something that lets you get a understanding of me a better fell of where comeing from or just maybe...

its gonna lose you even futher away from understanding a mind such as mine...

Where would i even begian i suppose i can start by introducing my self but for what i do not know you see i have been at this for so long that i have too forgotten who i truly am. you see i came from a very lower class family so i didnt grow up with much but i never let that hold me back i was maybe about twelve or thirteen when it all first started growing up in some broken down appaetment complex that really shouldn't be standing but i guess as stong at my mother was so was that dam bulding.It held maybe two or three other familys besides mine but it was home i use to think to my self at least for now my sister judy was my bestfriend there were not any other kids that lived in our building well at least around are age they were older seeing them hanging out on the side of the building smoking there cigarets and drinking there boose just very sloppy i hated steping foot out the door just to leave the comfort of my home my safezone my room was my escape from the outside it use to be different but recently i fell as if my world has been shattered and im holding on to ever all she did was sleep hell she couldnt even eat my mother had to feed her threw tubes that was no way for my sister to be liveing it was right there that i had knew it was time to do something.that night i lied in bed thinking of how to get out of here how would i move me and my mother out of her just the thought of it just being me and her not haveing judy in my life was gonna give me the push i needed i could just hear beep beep beep...

that next morning mother had left a note on the kitchen tabel out to pick up milk i knew i didnt have much time as i walked down the hallway to judys room all the memories i had with her just kept playing on her picking me up when i would fall someone that made me laugh i snaped my self back out of it and i stoped at her door looking in at her i grabed the end of my sleve and whiped the tears away from my cheeck took a deep breath and walked in seeing her knowing it would be one of the last times i see her like this just so helpless i stood over her telling her how much i enjoyed her company how much i adored her and looked up to her praying i would get a response from her even just a movement just to let me know she knew i was there or heard me but nothing just that dam beep beep beep...

i lend in to give her a kiss on the forehead and then i switched off all her monitors and i layed on her bed and held on to her tight i sware i even saw her crack a smile i told my self she was free now...i quickly got out of her bed and plugged everything just as it was and headed back to my bed room got back under the sheets and tried to drifted back away i jumped up to my mothers screams and rushed off to judys room hearing my mothers cries and judys mucsines with this constent beep she looked at me and held me tight telling me shes gone baby crying it over and over again i had to gather the streghth to now bw the strong one and stay sain to get us both out of here all i could do was give her words mother its going to be okay wer'er gonna be okay judys no longer hurting she was set free she would not want us to be sad for her she would want us to be happy shes in a much better place maybe they were just lies i had to say to make me fell better but deep down that is what i did belive .a few hours had past and here they were to take judys body away dropping to

if she got rid of all judys items she could forget and get rid of her pain but i knew she had to deal with that on her own i had said all i could to her my first time stepping out looks like not much has changed in fact i fell as though it got a bit worse seeing these women walking up and down the streets dressed with hardly anything on my mother told me stay away from them that they were dirty women hookers is the word she used for them it had seemed my mother started to get her self back maybe the eviction notice on the door had something to do with it i had convinced my mother i could no longer be in school that i wanted to help her help us get back on our feet she agreed but said that i would have to find somewhere that would allow me to work so i caught a bus to go more into the city to start my search but i didnt have much luck not too many places i want to hire a kid and i sure in hell wasnt gonna start some damn lemonade stand for a measly fifty cents a cup as i was waiting for the bus i sat and thought what could i do it was like a spark lit up i then decided to head to the library i asked the front desk clerk if i could use a computer a little snappy if you ask me "Did you sign in " ummm no i have never been to a library before when she heard me say that she then finally giving me eye contact she looked me up and down sneered and stood up and pointed in the east direction of the library and said i would have to log in and wait my turn being that i had never been in the library i had to sign up to even log in i walked up to the clerk with the damn grin on her face holding out clipboard with some paper attached to it heights library new member form great by the time i complete this form i would have already been done and out the door but i guess policies are policies first name:sara Last name:white D/O/B:7/16/82 you know you didnt have to sign up to be a member a voice from a distance says out to me i pick my head up and try stopping myself from stuttering uh uh the witch up front told me i had to in order to use the facilities are you planning to rent books he ask me read hell no laughing with amusement i stop myself noticing he had a ton of books surrounding him well i actually never had the time to pick up a book you see my sister has been sick for quite some time now i had been helping out my mother take care of her well i hope she gets well

As i walk east of the library i hand the lady the flipping clipbord and told her thanks for nothing. I proceeded my way to the computer logged on to micorsoft made me a few copys to start off with sarahs cleaning service i can clean the house as tidy as it could be would be my slogen oh shit i thought to myself how in the hell would people even get a hold of me i aint got no dam phone just great i couldnt tell mother i didnt have any luck now i decided to come up with a lie i figured i would eventually find something so for now i can just buy me some time as i walk home on the account i missed the last round up it always somthing i start to re herse what i would tell mother the streets reeked of piss i really needed to figure a way out of this dump curse you bill for leaveing us bill was mine and judys father but i dont know to much of the fucker he decied helping the war was more inportant then raiseing his daughter i hated him fot it i know i shouldnt but look at us now hes gone judys gone and me and my mother are left in shit hole bearyl hanging on to life its self i feel like thats when me and judy lost our mother it was like when she got the news inside she died the women we once knew was a complete and utter stranger. i knew we wouldnt even last one month AYE AYE you what you doing out here this aint your block ill kick your litte ass bitch hearing one of the hookers yell at me nearly trampling me oh its just you drunk hooker what the hell did she think i was one of her so teriotioal they are and a waste of a humanbeing as i closed the door behind me it was like the lightbulb in my head trun on and i would be back on track with my journey but how i was gonna get the courage to build my self up for it the thought of me being one of theses girls and how would i hide it from her i look at the time relize i had maybe a hour or less before she finished her shift at the hospital i decided to head out one last chance right hey you come here i call out for this burnette she just stood there smokeing a cig you come over here little girl haveing no i countiune walking what do you want isnt past your bed time little baby i ignored her comments look i just want to know how you do what you do she laughed in my face and sent me i was gonna make them pay for laughing in my face one way or another storming upstairs letting my frustrations out on every step i take trying to get ahold of my self crying so hard im sure the dam nebriouhs heard me i swang the restroom door open started kicking everything off and hoped that a nice hot shower would wash some of the faluire off as i lay in this hot water letting my mind run wild i hate that it does that i wish there was an off botton eventually i get overwhelmed of the thoughts and dig my head under the water felling some relife but of course you all know there is truly no way of running away from your own mind so i continued to hold my breath thinking maybe it was my time to be set free im sure wherever judy was it was much better then being here i knew it wouldnt be long before
